

STEFANSSON MEMORIAL LECTURE

LEARNING FROM NORTHERN PEOPLES

Our future depends on the lessons we learn from Northern people on the front lines of climate change and biodiversity loss about how to adapt and thrive in conditions of dramatic uncertainty and change.

DECEMBER 5, 2018
3:30 PM - 5:00 PM
CMU 120
reception to follow

Leslie King is Professor of Environment and Sustainability at Royal Roads University in Canada. Her lifelong research interests have been environmental governance and Indigenous knowledge in the Arctic and Africa.