

Mapping Memories

An exhibition for schools and the public, about how climate change impacts human places and memories in the arctic.

Coming to Ilulissat
September 16th

PROGRAMME

ILULISSAT
ICEFJORD CENTRE

Nordregio

09:00

Introduction

- Project background - Malu Jensen & Karl Sandgreen, Director & Vice-director, Ilulissat Icefjord Centre
- What the research tells us - Joan Nymand Larsen, Professor, University of Akureyri
- Collecting data, preserving memories - Justine Ramage, Senior Research Fellow, Nordregio
- How memories become maps - Levi Westerveld, Geographer and cartographer, Places.nu

09:40

Opening the exhibition

Malu Jensen, Vice-director, Ilulissat Icefjord Centre

10:00

Group exercise

What makes a place matter?

10:45

Story sharing

What should be remembered?

11:00

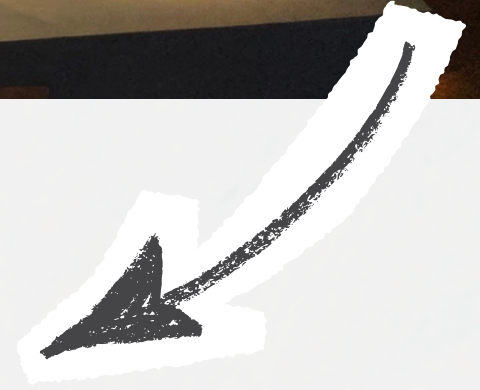

Walking-tour

Visiting a story site in Ilulissat

12:00

End

ONLY FOR STUDENTS

Open to the general public
No registration required.

Sign your school up for the event

Find more information and arrange to join the launch programme by contacting:

Karl Sandgreen

Director, Ilulissat Icefjord Centre
karl@ifc.gl / +299 555588

Can't make it to Ilulissat?

Digital access includes:

- The Mapping Memories interactive digital map
- Story booklets
- Recorded highlights from the launch event in Ilulissat

Get access by signing up here:

